Sackville E-Safety Advice: Parental Controls

Mr Lea writes:-

What do parental controls do?

These controls are designed to help parents and carers manage their child's online activities. There are various types, some of which are free but others which can be bought. However, nothing is totally foolproof so they don't replace the need for adults to support and advise children using the internet.

For detailed guidance on all the different types of control, you can use the online tool on the website below:

<http://www.internetmatters.org/parental-controls/interactive-guide/>

This gives you the chance to set up a personalised list of the controls used in your home on all your different devices. There is also advice on how to use all the various controls, with videos and step-by-step instructions.

E-Safety

The Internet is filled with incredible information and useful resources that most of us make use of on a regular basis yet for many parents and carers it can be a place of concern.

We worry about what or whom our children may encounter online and how we can protect them. We can now access the Internet on most mobile phones and whilst this access brings a world of incredible opportunities in terms of communication, interaction and entertainment, there are certain risks to children posed via the Internet.

At Sackville we believe that E-Safety is a high priority in keeping pupils safe. We have extensive security measures in place in school which are monitored internally to help safeguard pupils from potential dangers or unsuitable material whilst using the computers and other electronic equipment whilst on the school premises.

Basil Fawley is the perfect host compared to this place.

Let's get this straight from the start; all of the staff deserves a medal!

We were booked in for Valentines / Wedding Anniversary weekend. On arrival (11:30) there was a woman in the bar, clearly intoxicated she was loud and swearing like a trooper. At one point the CD playing the music in the bar was skipping "Jason, Jason stop that CD from jumping, you know I'm Dyslexic..." she shouted. We assumed she was either a local or a resident, our room was ready and we were shown up to our room by a nice but clearly embarrassed receptionist.

Our impressions of the hotel was it was tired dated and a bit dark, the shower was impractical (temperature kept changing and the shower head falling down) and the room cold, however we asked for a heater and got one.

That night we went down for our Valentines evening meal, the same lady was seated at a table with one can only assume her partner, I was a bit worried, and looking around the dining room not even so much as

Overview of the session

- The world of apps
- What's trending
- Parental strategies
- Where to look for information

Activity 1

- How many devices do you have at home (in total) that contain your personal data?
- Talk to a partner!
- 5 mins
- Average number per household: 7

Activity 2

- How do you monitor your child's internet usage at home?
- Do you know what sites they are using?
- Do you know the current trends in terms of apps/websites?

There's an app for that...

Anonymous chat

YikYak – location aware for contact within a 5 mile radius

Ask.fm – post selfies and talk about themselves

Omegle – linking strangers together anonymously in chat or video rooms

Whisper: A social "confessional" app users type a confession, add a background image and share it with the Whisper community. Intended for users age 17 and older.

No moderation or reporting

Snapchat - messaging app that lets users put a time limit on the pictures and videos they send before they disappear.

Burn Note - texting-only app that erases messages after a set period of time. Messages are stored until first view and then deleted.

Behaviour Vs Risk

Most young people do know the theory of what to do. But the theory is very different in practice.

We must understand that for many children and young people, risk-taking behaviour is a part of growing up...

Social Media use by ISIL

ISIL propaganda uses four main themes to encourage young people to travel to Syria and Iraq:

1. Celebrates and promotes an image of success to attract young people. 'ISIL are the winning side and can offer them an exciting life.'
2. Portrays their 'Caliphate' as an ideal, utopian state where Muslims will find status and belonging. Claims that it is the duty of Muslim men and women in the West to travel there.
'Real struggles need real men'
3. Insist that it is the personal duty of Muslims to support them and travel to the 'Caliphate'
4. Portray ISIL as the only group able to defend Sunnis from the Assad regime.

Doxers, trolls, abusive hashtag creators, and more could now face prosecution in the UK

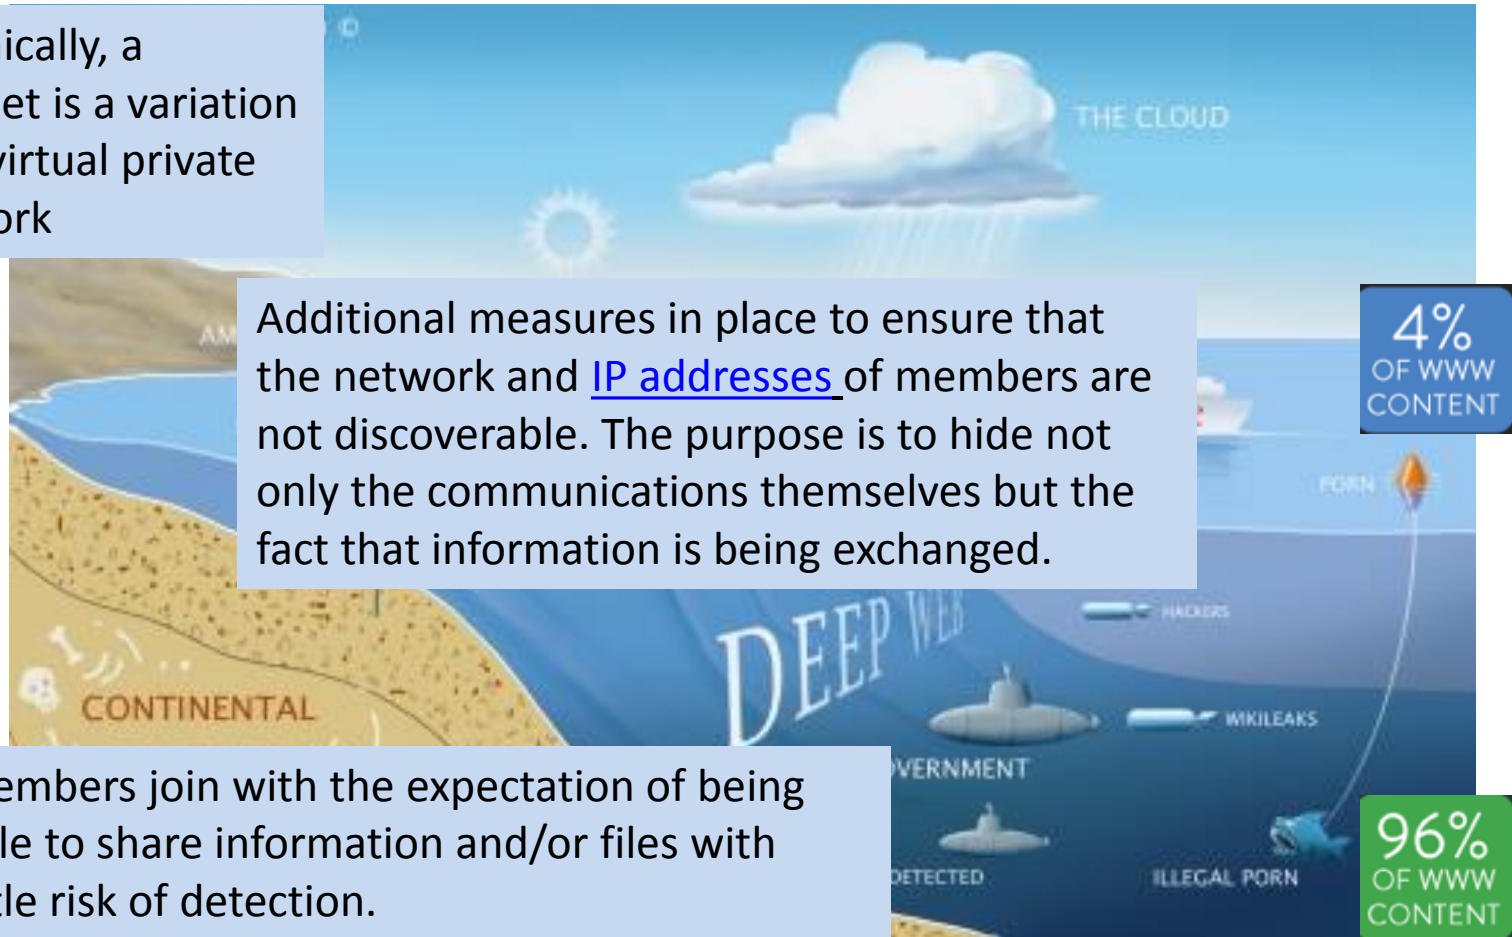

The UK is clamping down on Internet trolls and their toxic online behavior. The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) has published guidelines that could result in severe punishments for offensive hashtags, doxing, revenge porn, and other similar activities.

The Dark Net

Technically, a darknet is a variation on a virtual private network

Additional measures in place to ensure that the network and IP addresses of members are not discoverable. The purpose is to hide not only the communications themselves but the fact that information is being exchanged.

Members join with the expectation of being able to share information and/or files with little risk of detection.

Selfie (n): a picture of person taken by that person

Selfies are everywhere.

In 2013 it was named word of the year by Oxford Dictionaries

In 2014 a song was released called #selfie

In July 2015 selfie sticks were banned in Disneyland

Recent figures show that 91% of teens have taken a selfie and over 1 million are taken each day

Young people sometimes forget that this isn't real and compare themselves, (complete with flaws and bad days) to others perfected online versions of themselves, they can start to feel inferior and not as good as everyone else.

Remind young people that comparing themselves to others on social media is unhelpful, they're comparing themselves to something which may be impossible and unattainable - nobody looks fantastic all the time and everyone has bad days.

Online Image

Media and Body Image

Boys have issues with body image too.

Boys' own body concerns and risky behaviors can go unnoticed, and their role in supporting healthy attitudes among girls is vital.

Pay attention to your son, too

- Listen for negative body talk.
- Look for dramatic weight loss or gain.
- Check the messages from coaches, peers, and online forums about weight, exercise, and muscle-building.

Measurements of toy male action figures exceed even that of the biggest bodybuilders.

Unrealistic, sexualized, and stereotypical images and messages about bodies and gender are rampant on the media your kid consumes.

of female TV characters aged 10 to 17 are below average in weight.

Media is influential — if all your child sees are unrealistic body types she'll come to believe they're the ideal.

Immunize your child

- Choose quality media with diverse characters.
- Question assumptions about appearance.
- Challenge stereotypes about gender, body types, abilities.

Teens feel pressure to look good and cool online, but also feel social media helps their friendships and connections.

of teen girls say they use social media to "make themselves look cooler."

Kids live in a constant feedback loop of criticism and connection that moves quickly and is difficult to escape.

Be a social media supporter

- Help teens find supportive online communities.
- Encourage social media breaks when online drama heats up.
- Ask teens how online feedback makes them feel.

'Nation of deeply depressed children'

NSPCC chief executive Peter Watkins says the pressure to keep up with friends on social media is adding to the sadness that many children experience on a daily basis.

"I hate myself. When I look at other girls online posting photos of themselves it makes me feel really worthless and ugly. I'm struggling to cope with these feelings and stay in my bedroom most of the time."

The infographic is set against a dark blue background with light blue geometric patterns. A young man with brown hair, wearing a dark t-shirt and a watch, is lying on his stomach, propped up on his elbows, using a laptop. A white line with circular nodes containing the letters B, R, E, C, and K runs vertically through the center. To the right of each letter is a colored dot and a corresponding heading in the same color. Below each heading is a paragraph of text.

THE BRECK FOUNDATION

- B • BE AWARE
Opening files, accepting emails, IM messages, pictures or texts from people you don't know or trust can lead to problems - they may contain viruses or nasty messages.
- R • REPORT IT
Tell your parent, or trusted adult if someone or something makes you feel uncomfortable or worried, or if you or someone you know is being bullied.
- E • EDUCATE
Someone online might lie about who they are and information on the internet may not be true. Always check info with other websites, books or someone who knows. If you like chatting online it's best to only chat to your real friends & family.
- C • COMMUNICATE
Meeting someone you have met online can be dangerous. Remember online friends are still strangers even if you have been talking to them for a long time. Never meet up with them alone and always speak to a parent or carer beforehand.
- K • KEEP SAFE
Keep safe by being careful not to give out personal information when you are chatting or posting online. This includes your email, phone number, password, school, college and location.

It's not all bad...
